The Norfolk Mail STAGE.

THIS Stage starts from the GEORGE Tavern, at the corner of Second and Arch Streets, in Philadelphia, every Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, at 3 o'clock, in the morning; arrives at Dover the first day, at Snowhill the second day, at Northampton Court House the third day, and on the morning of the fourth day the passengers find a safe and comfortable packet to convey them to Norfolk.

A packet leaves Norfolk for Northampton ferry, every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, and the Stage starts from this ferry for Philadelphia, every Monday, Wednesday and Friday; puts up at Snow Hill the first night, at Dover the 2d night, and arrives in Philadelphia in the evening of the third day.

The distance on this route, between Philadelphia and Norfolk, is 80 miles less than on any stage route between those places.

Too much cannot be said in favor of the road, which is most excellent indeed. The proprietors willingly engage to return the whole fare to any passenger, who, after having performed this route, will say that he ever travelled in a stage for the same distance, so good a road in America.

In Carver—for Slitting, Platting, and Rolling MILLS.

THEIR superiority consists in being free from holes and honey-combed places, which are commonly found in rollers cast in sand, or clay moulds. These patent rollers are cast in iron moulds, previously heated, and will be found to be more dense, solid and durable than any rollers heretofore used. Another important advantage they have over others, is, that the necks require no turning, but are immedeately fit for use, and from their accuracy, run with less friction, and require less water to make them perform their work. They may be had by application to the Patentee in Plymouth, of Gen. Nathaniel Goodwin, or of Messrs. Thatcher and Hayward Boston, Aug. 31.

To Masters and Pilots bringing up Vessels from Foreign Ports to this City.

WHereas sundry infringements have lately been made on the laws of this state for the preventing pestilential or infectious diseases, either from ignorance or inattention thereto, it is tho't expedient at this time to publish the following extracts from the laws of 22d April, 1794, 7th and 8th sections.

HEALTH-OFFICE.

June 6th, 1794.

Extract of an act for securing the city and port of Philadelphia from the introduction of pestilential and contagious diseases.

SECT. 7. And be it further enacted, that every master or captain of any ship or vessel coming from sea (vessels actually employed in the coasting trade excepted) and bound to any port or place within the jurisdiction of Pennsylvania, shall cause his ship or vessel to be brought to anchor, or otherwise stayed in the stream of the river Delaware, opposite to the Health-Office on State-Island aforesaid, and there to remain until he shall have duly obtained a certificate or bill of health from the Resident Physician. And if, previously to obtaining such certificate or bill of health, any master or captain shall suffer his ship or vessel to approach nearer than the said Health-Office to the city of Philadelphia, or shall land, cause or suffer to be landed, or brought on shore, at any place or port within this Commonwealth, or at any other port or place, with the intent of being conveyed into this Commonwealth, any person or persons, or any goods, wares or merchandize, or, if after receiving such bill of health or certificate, he shall neglect or refuse to deliver the same to the Health-Officer, such master or captain shall forfeit and pay, for each and every such offence, the sum of FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS.

And the captain or master of every ship or vessel shall send a safe and commodious boat to bring the physician on board, and shall in like manner convey him back to the Health-Office, after he has concluded his official examination; And while he is making such examination, or in case any subsequent examination by the Health Officer or Consulting Physician, agreeably to the directions of this act, the master or captain shall expose or cause to be exposed to the search of the Resident Physician, or of the Health Officer and Consulting Physician (as the case may be) each and every part of the ship or vessel, and shall present to his view each and every person or persons on board thereof, and and shall also true and satisfactory answers make to all such questions as the Resident Physician, &c. at the time of examination shall ask relative to the health of any port or place from which the ship or vessel sailed, or has since touched at—the number of persons on board when the ship or vessel entered on her voyage—the number of persons that have since been landed or taken on board, and when and where respectively—what persons on board—if they have been during the voyage, or shall, at the time of examination, be infected with any pestilential or contagious disease—and what is the present state and condition of the persons on board with respect to their health or diseases. And if any master or captain shall refuse to expose as aforesaid, to the search of any of the officers aforesaid, or if he shall conceal any sick person, or in any other manner deceive the proper officers aforesaid in his answers, such captain or master, for every such offence, shall forfeit and pay the sum of FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS.

SECT. 8. And if any person or persons whatsoever (the Resident Physician, &c. excepted) shall go on board any vessel, before the master thereof has received a certificate of health in the manner directed, every person so offending, shall pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS.

IT being absolutely necessary that the foregoing sections should be punctually complied with, the subscriber, in compliance with his duty, must exact a rigorous observance of the same, or else be under the necessity of putting the laws in force.

PHILADELPHIA,
FRIDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 6.

INFORMATION

Reſpecting Dr. RUSH's conduct and tranſactions during the prevalence of the malignant fever of 1793—Communicated by one of the Members of the College of Phyſicians.

Dr. Ruſh having tried the effects of mercurial purges which he acknowledged to the College of Phyſicians on the 26th of Auguſt, had been recommended to him by Doctors Hodge and Carſon, the latter of whom had experienced their good effects upon himſelf on a former occaſion in a doſe containing [illegible] grains of Calomel—made trial of them, was ſo highly pleaſed with them that he aſſumed the credit of the diſcovery, though they had been frequently employed, both by the Eaſt and Weſt-India phyſicians long before 1793, as may be ſeen in the publications of Lind, Blaney, Clark, Balfour and others.

He appears to have read Dr. Moſely's directions for treating the Yellow Fever of the Weſt-Indies about the 10th of September for the firſt time. In that treatiſe very profuſe and frequent bleeding is recommended from a perſuaſion that the diſeaſe was always attended with inflammatory ſymptoms in the beginning, which in that climate was probably the caſe as the ſubjects that came under Moſely's care were ſtrong vigorous plethoric Engliſh ſailors.

Dr. Ruſh with that precipitation for which he has always been noted, inſtantly adopted the practice in its utmoſt latitude without reflecting that difference of climate and conſtitution made a difference in the diſeaſe.

On the 12th September he publiſhed in the Federal Gazette the following directions to the citizens:

"Dr. Ruſh, regretting that he is unable to comply with all the calls of his fellow-citizens indiſpoſed with the prevailing fever, recommends to them to take his mercurial purges, which may now be had with ſuitable directions at moſt of the Apothecary's, and to loſe 10 or 12 ounces of blood as ſoon convenient after taking the purges,* if the head ach and fever continue. When the purges do not operate ſpeedily, bleeding may now be uſed before they are taken.—The almoſt univerſal ſucceſs with which it has pleaſed God to bleſs the remedies of ſtrong mercurial purges and bleeding in this diſorder, enables Dr. Ruſh to aſſure his fellow-citizens that there is no more danger to be apprehended from it when theſe remedies have been uſed in its early ſtage, than there is from the Meazles or Influenza. Dr. Ruſh aſſures his fellow-citizens farther, that the riſk from viſiting and attending the ſick at preſent, is not greater than from walking the ſtreets. While the diſeaſe was ſo generally mortal, or the ſucceſsful mode of treating it only partially adopted, he adviſed his friends to leave the city; at preſent he conceives this advice unneceſſary, not only becauſe the diſeaſe is under the power of medicine, but becauſe the citizens who now wiſh to fly into the country cannot avoid carrying the infection with them—they had better remain near to medical aid and avoid exciting the infection into action."

How far the aſſertions contained in the addreſs correſpond with facts, let the obituary of that month determine, and the deaths in his own family.

Thoſe acquainted with the cauſes and laws of contagion thought him inſane.

At other times he promiſed a removal of the infectious effluvia, with which he aſſerted the whole atmoſphere was loaded, as ſoon as a heavy rain ſhould fall. An opinion as groundleſs as any that ever was generated in a whimſical brain.

Immediately after one of his addreſſes to the citizens, the following advertiſements were publiſhed by his requeſt in all the newſpapers.

"Dr. Ruſh's celebrated mercurial purging and ſweating powers for preventing and curing the prevailing putrid fever, may be had carefully prepared, with proper directions at Betton & Harriſons, No. 10, South Second ſtreet.

Dr. Ruſh's mercurial ſweating purge for the Yellow Fever, may be had carefully prepared, with the doctor's directions, and ſold by Wiiliam Delany, Druggiſt and Chemiſt, &c.

Dr. Ruſh's mercurial ſweating powder for the Yellow Fever, with printed directions, prepared and ſold by permiſſion, by Goldthwait & Baldwin, Chemiſts and Druggiſts, &c.

In ſpeaking of his exploits in a letter addreſſed to Dr. Rodgers, dated October 3d, after accuſing moſt of the phyſicians in the city of ignorance and obſtinacy, he adds, "by means of the remedies before mentioned, I think I have been the unworthy inſtrument in the hands of a kind providence of recovering more than 99 out of an 100 of my patients before my late indiſpoſition from the want of bleeding and purging. Since the 10th of Sept. I have found bleeding in addition to the mercurial purges neceſſary in 19 caſes out of 20. At firſt I found the loſs of 10 or 12 ounces ſufficient to ſubdue the pulſe, but I have been obliged gradually as the ſeaſon advanced to increaſe the quantity to 60, 70 and 80 ounces."

So much was the Dr. about this period poſſeſt with the notion that he was the only man of common ſenſe exiſting, that he not only refuſed to conſult with any but his former pupils who ſubmitted to obey his dictates, that he rudely intruded his advice upon other people's patients; he alſo appointed two illiterate negro men and ſent them into all the alleys and bye-places in the city, with orders to bleed and give his ſweating purges as he empirically called them, to all they ſhould find ſick without regard to age, ſex or conſtitution. And bloody and dirty work they made among the poor miſerable creatures that fell in their way.

That his mind was elevated to a ſtate of enthuſiaſm bordering on phrenzy, I had frequent opportunity of obſerving—and I have heard from popular report, that in paſſing through Kenſington one day with his black man on the ſeat of his chaiſe along ſide of him, he cried out with vociferation, "bleed and purge all Kenſington! drive on boy!"

The contemplation of his own ſelf created conſequence, the hurry of buſineſs, the novelty and ſolemn aſpect of the ſurrounding ſcenes, had certainly a very extraordinary effect upon his imagination and impaired his judgment.

I knew ſeveral that he terrified into chil[illegible] into relapſes, and ſo[illegible] into convulſions, by ſtopping them in the ſtreet and declaring they had the fever—You've got it! you've got it! was his uſual ſalutation upon ſeeing any one with a pale countenance. I have been aſſured that he pronounced to Dr. Glentworth, that he would be a dead man if he would not ſubmit to more bleeding, after he had reduced him almoſt to death's door by the violence of his remedies.* Two other phyſicians being called in, thought otherwiſe, and the Doct. recovered without any more loſs of the vital fluid, notwithſtanding this alarming and poſitive prognoſtication.

His pronouncing Mr. Michael Connor to be infected with the yellow fever, when juſt recovered from the ague and fever, occaſioned a relapſe—The ſame gentleman aſcribes the loſs of his amiable daughter to the draſtic operation of his mercurial purges.

When applied to by Mr. Chancellor to viſit a patient with Dr. Hodge, he adviſed him to diſmiſs Dr. H. for he was a bark and wine Doctor, and would do him more harm than good.

Dr. W. he ſaid was an aſſaſſin, becauſe he expreſſed ſome doubts of the ſuperior efficacy of mercurial purges to thoſe of a leſs draſtic kind.

In his letter to Dr. Rodgers, after treating the opinions of all his fellow practitioners with the moſt inſulting contempt, and declaring that he believes himſelf the unworthy inſtrument in the hands of a kind providence of recovering more than 99 of an 100 of his patients, he adds, "it was extremely unfortunate that the new remedies were ever connected with my name," and that he claimed no other merit than that of having early adopted and extended a mode of treating the diſorder which he had learned from his firſt preceptor in medicine Dr. Redman, and which is ſtrongly recommended by Hilary, Moſely, Mitchel, Kirby, and many other writers on the fever."

The Doctor certainly intended to write a romance, for there is no mention in any of the authors he refers to of mercurial purges, or of reſting the cure of the diſeaſe on copious bleeding and purging, or that God had bleſſed copious bleeding and purging in their hands, as any perſon that can read may ſatisfy himſelf. Moſely indeed depends much on copious bleeding in caſes where the inflammatory ſymptoms are manifeſt, but all the reſt inculcate ſparing bleeding and the moſt mild purges The recollection of theſe things were not to his purpoſe, hence the convenience of having a good momory at forgetting things that would prove obſtacles to our ſchemes—All good democrats acquire this kind of memory.

The Doctor here remembered to forget the information he formerly acknowledged he had received from Doctors Hodge and Carſon, reſpecting the efficacy of mercurial purges in bilious caſes. He alſo remembered to forget having ſeen the good effects produced by bleeding a fat cook in Water ſtreet, the day after he had threateued to proſecute Dr. Barnwell for a deſign upon the life of Mrs. Roſs in Walnut ſtreet, becauſe he bled her in the very ſame kind of fever that he now applauds it in, and employs as a cordial and anodine, and in deſperate caſes, to make the patient die eaſy. He alſo remembered to forget to mention, that he adopted his ſanguinary code not from Drago but from Moſely, who was a mere empiric that practiſed in Jamaica ſome years ago.

He alſo, in a moſt extraordinary manner, remembered to forget the victims that were falling by the hands of his apoſtles, at the very time that he was boaſting of recovering more than ninety-nine of a hundred.

To crown all his extravagances, he has lately threatened to proſecute Dr. Hodge for telling Dr. Way, on the 2d day of his fever, that he thought he might recover without any more bleeding. The caſe of Dr. Way is briefly this:—He was attacked on Sunday with the uſual ſymptoms of the prevailing fever; bled himſelf in the night about 12 ounces; next day was bled by advice of Dr. Ruſh three times; took mercurial purges, which operated very copiouſly; on Tueſday had an intermiſſion; was again bled once, and purged ſeveral times. On Wedneſday he took without advice 8 grains of mercurius dulcis; had all along ſince the attack obſerved the moſt abſtemious and cooling regimen. By whoſe direction he was bled on Wedneſday I do not know, for Dr. Ruſh did not viſit him after dinner that day. The mercury that he took of his own accord on Wedneſday morning, brought on pain, ſickneſs and ſpaſms in his bowels, and occaſioned ſuch extreme debility that he ſunk under it, and expired on Friday evening. The account of the treatment till Wedneſday morning, the writer had from Dr. Way himſelf.

From this ſtatement, I think Dr. Ruſh exempt from blame in the caſe of Dr. Way; and that there are caſes of high inflammation in which the patient ſometimes recovers, under the moſt herculean diſcipline, his moſt inveterate enemies muſt acknowledge.

* These purges contained 10 grains of Calomel and 15 of Jalap.

* "If you will not ſubmit to my advice ſays he, ſettle your affairs, for you have a dropſy of the brain, and will ſoon be a dead man."

From the American Daily Adverſiſer.

Meſſrs. CLAYPOOLE,

A certain phyſician in this city, it is ſaid in a late publication, has loſt but one patient out of ſeventy in the prevailing fever. It will be humane at the preſent diſtreſſing ſeaſon, for him to mention his name, and alſo his remedies, that leſs ſucceſsful practioners may adopt them. A CITIZEN.

Oct. 3d, 1797.

[That thoſe "unſucceſsful practioners" who have perſevered to this time, in the horrid practice, of bleeding patients to the moment of death (and of this having been done ample proof ſhall be adduced) will ever be deterred from continuing thoſe murderous courſes, by any thing but a preſentment from the Grand Jury, as public nuiſances, does not appear to me ſo probable as it would ſeem to this citizen.

Nevertheleſs, I am ready to give him the name he ſeeks, for his private ſatisfaction. I have not aſked permiſſion to communicate it to the public, nor ſhall I. The gentleman alluded to, builds his fame on more ſubſtantial and ſolid foundations than newſpaper celebrity. The fact, in the mean time, remains undiſputed; and I defy any man to weaken the force either of the fact itſelf or the inevitable deductions to be drawn from it.

As to any uncommon, or ſet mode of practice, unknown to others of the medical faculty, having produced this wonderful ſucceſs, no ſuch thing is pretended. How do you think, then, it is brought about? By avoiding the practice of copious bleeding. And while I render that tribute of applauſe ſo juſtly due to diſtinguiſhed ſucceſs (which, whatever may be ſaid, is the only clear proof of diſtinguiſhed merit) let me not omit to mention, that tho' this is an inſtance rare, if not unparalleled, yet, a proportionate degree of ſucceſs has uniformly attended the practice of thoſe other profeſſional gentlemen who have "been ſparing of the lancet." I defy any man to conteſt this, which I aſſert as a fact. I have alſo another teſtimony againſt Blood, equally ſtriking and important, which ſhall be brought forward at a proper time.]

Friendly Advice to the People, on the preſent raging Diſeaſes,

BY THE REV. DR. COLLIN.

WE have paſſed through many ſorrowful weeks, and we have reaſon to apprehend further attacks from the ſhafts that ſo cruelly afflict our mortal frames, and wound our ſouls to the quick, by the loſs of our deareſt friends. How far the efforts of man may delay that diſſolution which muſt finally ſeparate us from this world, we know not; but it is a duty to preſerve life by all promiſing means; and alſo, to ſmooth the paſſage of the grave. Extreme ſufferings of departing friends, impreſs a ſadneſs on the heart that cannot ſoon be obliterated, tho' we know that they were nothing in compariſon to the ſucceeding and permanent fullneſs of joy.

Public diſtreſs demands public attention; every perſon is in conſcience bound to furniſh what information he can. Was this done more generally, much light would be collected, and the beſt phyſicians would receive aid from the obſervations of candid and judicious perſons.

The preſent epidemic is, like that of '93, diverſified in many forms and degrees—it is more or leſs bilious, nervous, putrid, or inflammatory—it affects the ſtomach, head, back, differently: in general, all fevers in America are thus varied, by ſeaſons, conſtitutions, local circumſtances, &c. This principle being undoubted, it is unreaſonable to treat this diſeaſe in a uniform manner. The proper yellow fever is by no means the moſt frequent of theſe varieties, and the worſt ſpecies is rare. This diſeaſe is, indeed, one of the leaſt known, becauſe it does not occur in the moſt civilized parts of Europe, which have many excellent phyſicians. The medical authors who have ſeen it in the Eaſt and Weſt-Indies, are few: the moſt judicious among them confeſs their obſcure knowledge of it; and the others diſagree in opinion. In the beginning its appearances are ſeldom ſo ſtriking as to ſhow its real quality. Whenever theſe are doubtful, violent management is wrong, becauſe more harm may be done than can be repaired by an altered method. Extreme evacuations may be proper in a few caſes, but ſhould by no means be general rules, becauſe we know not whether they can reach the morbid cauſe; or whether exhauſtion may not diſable the powers of nature from a neceſſary co-operation. Moderate bleeding and purging is at firſt ſafeſt. Immoderate purgings are not ſure means of removing that vomiting ſo dreadful in this fever, as I have found in many caſes. Queſtionable mineral medicines are, undoubtedly, hurtful to many conſtitutions. The moſt mild among the vegetable are alſo preferable, if they can keep the body ſufficiently open, becauſe they do not increaſe the irritation of the inteſtines.

NEW-YORK, October 3.

The propoſition for a union of the new Venetian ſtate, with the Ciſalpine republic, has been rejected, by 15,000 votes againſt 35,000—If, as ſome ſuppoſe, Buonaparte intends to erect Italy, from Piedmont to the Adriatic, into one indiviſible republic, and put himſelf at the head of it, a few columns of his troops will eaſily turn the majority of votes in favor of the propoſed union of Venice with Lombardy.

By the addreſs of Carnot to the French on the celebration of the 10th of Auguſt, it is obſerved that the government of France is aſſailed by efforts to reſtore monarchy.—Indeed the late election is a proof that the opinions of the maſs of the nation are unfriendly to the meaſures of the government; if not the conſtitution. But even admitting the fact, that a majority of the nation is in favor of a limited monarchy, the difficulties of reſtoring it, which Carnot has deſcribed, are real—they may be unſurmountable—and if the preſent conſtitution can exiſt and preſerve peace and ſubordination to law, good Frenchmen will ſubmit to it, rather than riſk the dangerous ſtorms of another revolution.

ALEXANDRIA, Sept. 21.

Tueſday afternoon a court was held for the examination of John Perry, charged with being concerned in fitting out and arming a veſſel within the United States, for the purpoſe of cruiſing againſt the ſubjects of a nation with whom we are at peace, &c.

The moſt material evidence for the proſecution was Captain Willis, whoſe teſtimony was in ſubſtance as follows:—that in the month of January laſt, on his homeward bound paſſage from Guadaloupe, he ſpoke a new copper bottomed ſchooner from Norwich in Connecticut, called the Uncas, with mules upon her deck—that on his returning to Guadaloupe, ſome time after, he found that this ſchooner had been converted into a privateer, and had taken ſome prizes, particularly a ſhip called the Betſey of Glaſgow—that in a converſation he had with Perry, he ſaid he was on board the ſchooner when ſpoken by him in January, and further acknowledged that he was then intereſted in ſaid ſchooner, as a privateer—that Perry was publickly ſpoken of at Gaudaloupe as part owner and agent for the privateer, which was then called the Victorious.

Mr. Murray's teſtimony corroborated in ſtating the prevailing opinion at Gaudalaupe, of Perry's being underſtood as part owner and agent for this privateer

After a full and candid hearing of evidence and the reſpective counſel employed upon the occaſion, the court were of an unanimous opinion that Perry's caſe came under cogizance of a law of Congreſs paſſed in '94, which ſubjects citizens of the United States guilty of the offence for which he was indicted, to impriſonment of not more than three years, and a fine not exceeding 5000 dollars.

The court admitted Perry to bail on his giving ſecurity in the ſum of 5000 dollars for his appearance at the Federal Court to be held in the diſtrict of Virginia, to which a final deciſion is referred.

Before the ſame court, Mr. Robert Hamilton, of this town, was examined on a charge not very diſſimilar to the above. The only evidence adduced in this caſe was his own voluntary confeſſion. Sunday morning Mr. Hamilton meeting ſeveral gentlemen on his wharf, he deſired that they would ſtep into his counting room, where he obſerved to them, that underſtanding a report was in circulation that he had been concerned in a privateer fitted out of the United States, was deſirous of repreſenting the matter in its true light, in order that they might contradict any miſrepreſentation which the tongue of rumour would probably originate. He then ſtated that in the year '93, a friend in Baltimore, without his knowledge or advice, purchaſed a part in a privateer—that he was firſt informed of this circumſtance by letter, ſtating alſo that he was conſidered as intereſted in a third part of the purchaſe—that he accordingly gave his friend, who was indebted to him, credit for that proporſition of the ſhare he brought in the privateer (as he ſhewed by his books) amounting to £. 48 8ſ.—that he afterwards received through him, 900 dollars, as a dividend of a prize made by ſaid privateer, ſince which he had not heard further of her than a report that ſhe was captured and deſtroyed by the enemy.

The attorney remarked that a proſecution would not lie, inaſmuch as it was required by law, that it ſhould be commenced in two years after the commiſſion of the offence but that the court might demand ſecurity againſt the repetition of it. The court coincided with the attorney in regard to the point of law; but bound him to a ſum of 2000 dollars, being unanimouſly of opinion that he had been guilty of a high miſdemeanor.

EDENTON, (N. C.) Sept. 21.

Friday laſt arrived the ſchooner Little Gabriel, Leven Bozman, maſter, from Antigua. Capt. Bozman was, on the 14th ult. in laſt 26, 30, long. 68, on his homeward bound paſſage, captured by a French armed brig called the Pandora, commanded by Citizen Gariſcan, from St. Domingo, mounting 12 ſix pounders. After examining his papers, ſealing them up, they were delivered to a prize maſter, who, with 5 men, armed and equipped, took poſſeſſion of the Little Gabriel. The brig then bore away for St. Domingo, ſteering S. by W. S. S. W. and S. until the 6th day, when land appeared, which they ſuppoſed to be Porto Rico; in conſequence of which the crew of the ſchooner which had been previouſly taken out were ſent on board; but on diſcovering they were in Samana bay, in Hiſpaniola, they again took out the crew, except the Capt. mate, ſupercargo, and a negro man, and hauled upon a wind with intend to beat round the eaſt end of Hiſpaniola, to the port of St. Domingo. The privateer brig always appeared near at hand ſince ſhe had poſſeſſion. On the 20th of Auguſt, having procured their arms, Captain Bozman, with the remainder of his crew immediately ordered the prize maſter and his gang below, which being accompliſhed without bloodſhed, one of them was demanded on deck to aſſiſt in hoiſting out the boat, while a centinel was placed at the hatchway. Being ſhort of water it was judged moſt prudent to give them the boat, which was accordingly done, with every neceſſary proviſion and directions to make the beſt of their way on ſhore, Cape Raphael then bearing S. by W. diſtant about 5 leagues, and the privateer ſtill in ſight from the deck. The ſchooner then made all ſail ſteering for Occacock bar, where ſhe arrived the 4th inſtaut.

The above privateer had captured ſeven other prizes, 4 brigs, 2 ſchooners, and a ſloop, Among whom Capt. Bozman heard of the names of Capt. Montague. of the ſloop Dependence, of Norfolk, and Capt. Wheaton, of the ſchooner Juno, of New-York.

By this day's Mail.

IMPORTANT.

A report was current in town yesterday, but by what authority we are not authorised to say, that a vessel arrived at Boston on Sunday, from Guernsey, in a short passage, who spoke a vessel at sea, the captain of which informed him, that he was eye-witness to an engagement between the Spanish and English fleets, having laid to several hours to observe their manœuvres, and when he parted with them the action was undecided. This day's Eastern Mail will decide as to the validity of this account. Argus.

LETTERS FROM LONDON.

"August 2, '97.

From Mr. Bayard, the American commercial agent in London. "After many exertions, and much patient attendance, at Doctors Commons, and the Treasury, I have at length been able to obtain compensation from the British government, for losses sustained, by many of our fellow citizens, for the capture and detention of their vessels, in that class of cases, called cases of costs and damages. I received the last Saturday, £.34,443, 8s. 5*d* sterl."

[The decisions made by the board, appointed under the commissioners for American claims, have, in the instance alluded to in the above letter of Mr. Bayard's, and in every other, been ample and satisfactory; and in no case, has the American commercial agent been under the necessity of appealing from their judgment, a right invested in him. This tribute is due to the magnanimity and justice of the board.]

"August 11, 1797.

"Unfortunately for the sufferers, the Martinique captures are not yet tried; we have waited a long time; they are expected to come on next week, as they were this. It is not believed, however, that the Admiralty, or Lords of Appeals, will decree a sentence, commensurate to the damage. Next summer, the Commissioners, we doubt not, will compleat what they have so well begun; about eighty or ninety claims have already been settled, and paid for by this government."

"August 11, 1797.

"I wrote by the Belvidera, about 10 days since, to inform you, that the monies awarded in several cases, had been paid by this government. I have since authorised the individuals to draw on me here for their respective sums. The Board of Commissioners will not again meet until the 1st of November. So far as we have progressed, all has turned out well. God grant the termination of the business may be equally favourable."

"The question of recovering, against the underwriters on policies, where the ship has been warranted American, and has been condemned in France, together with the cargo, for not being documented, agreeably to the treaty between the two countries, has been tried in the court of king's bench, in the case of the Commerce, warranted American ship, bound from Lisbon to London, and carried into Nantes, and there condemned on that ground. Lord Kenyon held, that every man was bound to conform to the laws and treaties of his own country; that in warranting the ship neutral, or American, he obliged himself to prove her qualified with every document necessary by their laws and treaties, to support her neutrality and that if she was condemned for any default in them, the warrant was not made out, and consequently the underwriter was exonerated. This decision is conformable to some precedents established last war by lord Mansfield, in cases of other neutral vessels under similar circumstances, and was generally expected. But it will involve much American property insured here, and leave the owners no chance of redress, but from the French government. It is matter of great surprise here, that your citizens have exposed so many of their vessels to confiscation, by neglecting to provide them with the papers which the treaty of 1778 acknowledges to be necessary, in case of France being at war with any other power, and the very form of which that treaty prescribes."

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 30,

That part of the extract of a letter, published in our last, under the Pittsburgh head, which mentions, that "the inhabitants at the Natchez are in open rebellion, and have displayed the French colours," is a mistake.—It is the people of Kaskaskias, which is within the government of the North Western Territory, and where the laws of the United States have been in force for several years.—Particulars we have not yet heard, but have no doubt that some of Citizen Adet's spies are among them. It is to be wished that if any of them should fall into the hands of General Wilkinson, he will grace a pole with their heads instead of a French Liberty Cap.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman of character at Cahokia to a gentleman at Detroit, dated June 16, 1797.

"An American party to the number, it is said, of 110, have displayed the standard of the French Republic—have adopted the name of Sans Culottes, and will acknowledge no other laws than the French laws. The justices already say that they dare not set on the bench.—I believe they have reason to fear."

TO THE PUBLIC.

In a letter lately published in Mr. Fenno's paper, I came forward with the initial of my surname. This I have since had reason sincerely to regret. William Cobbett, after announcing this letter, in a manner highly illnatured and ungentlemanly, has thought fit, not only to republish, but most strikingly to misrepresent it.

In the fifth sentence, in the third line, after the words he has, Mr. Cobbett has inserted the word long, which is not in the original letter; from a review of which, it will appear evident, that this word must have been an intentional addition. To place this in a clear light, and to put it beyond all doubt, it is only necessary to observe, that he has printed the words he has long, (differently from the original) in italics; and at the bottom, has added a comment on the very word by himself interpolated; which comment is wholly inapplicable to any part of the letter, as it appeared in Mr. Fenno's paper.

Trifling as this circumstance may appear, it is evident that it must be considered as a matter of no small importance. If a printer is at liberty thus to alter and misrepresent a piece, the contents of which he may happen to dislike;—if, to suit his own purposes, he can thus shamefully and maliciously mutilate the publications he may meet with; and all this under the sanction of the liberty of the press;—beware, fellow citizens, how you commit your communications to the public.

And what must be your opinion of the honor and integrity of the man, who, if he has nothing else to lay hold of, stoops to such mean and despicable shifts, in order to give vent to a malignant disposition. I therefore call on Mr. Cobbett, if he is possessed of a particle of candor, publicly to retract this misrepresentation. I well know that in coming forward in the public papers, I lay myself open, not only to his, but to every other person's animadversions; and I cheerfully leave him at liberty, to comment on, to republish, and to abuse, any and every thing I may write in future; but in justice to the public, to him and to myself, I entreat him to do it without perversion and misrepresentation.

THOS. HORSFIELD.

Extract of a letter from a citizen of the United States, dated at Cape Francois, the 21st September, 1797.

"I have the pleasure to acquaint you, that since the departure of Santhonax, 12 American vessels have been liberated. But it must be understood that these vessels were either going to or coming from French ports. They as usual condemn our vessels bound to British ports, or vessels bound to French ports when they are captured with their registers endorsed (by British naval officers) before they can reach these ports; and in no instance do they permit our vessels to depart with their outward cargoes. The administration generally takes the provisions on a credit."

At a meeting of a number of the citizens of Philadelphia, held at the Union School House in Germantown, on Saturday, the 30th day of September, 1797:—

The Citizens of Philadelphia at present residing at Germantown, Frankford, and other places in the vicinity of the City—are earnestly called upon not to neglect giving in their suffrages at the approaching election. That man is unworthy of the blessings of freedom, who possessing the right of co-operating in the appointment of public officers, not only neglects to make it a duty, but tamely looks on to behold every possession that is of importance to him, put in jeopardy by the intrigues and machinations of wicked caballers.

It will be somewhat troublesome; but nothing in competition with the important interests at stake on the issue. As to danger, on account of the Fever, surely no man need be under apprehensions on that score: As it is only necessary to go to the State-House, and deposit the vote, which may be done in a few minutes, without involving a necessity for the least exposure to infection. Ask yourselves, citizens, upon a question, whether you will choose good men to transact your important public concerns, or have bad men forced upon you, if the the case be not worth your care.

The Editor, pro tempore, of this paper, having, in the ordinary course of his profession, experienced a most extraordinary and novel assault, in a persecution commenced against opinion, by one who thought proper to construe to his own prejudice certain paragraphs which appeared at different times in this Gazette, thinks it proper to declare to the public, that although he is determined to hold no measure with an open enemy, yet, as his views have ever been directed to the propagation of such truths as may be useful to us in our political or social state, he offers himself as the impartial organ through which the sentiments of the opposite parties may be communicated to the public. As a thorough knowledge of the nature and treatment of the present malady, is of the highest importance to the welfare and happiness of this country, he invites the communications of those professional and literary gentlemen, whose experience and knowledge may throw light on this interesting subject. On a point of such general discussion, and on which he, like many others, can say but too much from fatal experience, it is to be expected that every one will have formed some opinion—yet, as that opinion may be founded on partial facts, or partial representations, he is willing to renounce his own in favor of those even of his persecutor, when the latter shall have acquired the sanction of experience and general concurrence. But as a question of a much higher nature, than the good or ill will of a weak, petulant individual, is implicated in the process instituted against the editor, he feels himself bound in duty and honor, as a member of this free community, to adhere to his wonted line of conduct, and to give to the world the sentiments of his correspondents, without stipulating for the language in which they are to be cloathed. He ever has been and will be careful not to touch persons, and as for opinions he cannot but think that, maugre all that Sangrado can say or do, they must and will shift for themselves.

The Jacobin faction, curious to relate, are about attempting something new and before unheard of. A new political denomination is to be instituted; and to back the soi-disant republicans in their noxious schemes, we are to have a publican exalted into the Grand Council of the Commonwealth.

STAGES.

THE public are requested to take notice, that the partnership which has for some time subsisted between Mathias Slough of Lancaster, and William Geer, is now dissolved: but, not as M. Slough insinuates to the public without just cause; as will more fully appear by a letter on the subject from M. Slough to W. Geer, dated the 29th December last, a recital of which is not now deemed necessary. Any gentleman who wishes to be more circumstantially informed of the merits of this business, by applying to W. Geer may have the perusal of M. Slough's letter, and then can be at full liberty to determine whether or not W. Geer is not perfectly justifiable in attaching himself to any other person in the prosecution of the Stage conveyance from Philadelphia to Shippensburg, or any other place.

Now from the liberal and generous support the public were pleased to confer on the first effort in this business, William Geer, in conjunction with Messrs. Reily, Weed and Witmer, is determined to prosecute and carry it on, with every care, attention and dispatch that a zeal to oblige the public can possibly exert.

The above company, who are amply provided with carriages, horses, and every appurtenance to render the passage safe and commodious, inform those who wish to patronize and encourage the undertaking, that they can take their seats at George Weed's, the sign of the White Horse, Market Street, Philadelphia, on every Monday and Friday, to proceed to Lancaster, Harrisburg, Carlisle and Shippensburg. The fare as hitherto established.

For the further accommodation of the public, a Stage will start every Wednesday from the house of Samuel Elder, in Harrisburg, arrive at Sunbury in Northumberland county, every Thursday, and return from thence and arrive at Harrisburg every Saturday, so that passengers destined for Lancaster or Philadelphia, may proceed on Mondays.

WILLIAM GEER.

Lancaster, Jan. 27, 1797.

N. B. This Line of Stages starts from the house of William Ferree, in Lancaster, on every Tuesday and Saturday morning at 6 o'clock, proceeding to the westward; and from the house of Mr. Samuel Elder in Harrisburg every Wednesday morning, on the same evening arrives at Patrick Cochran's in Shippensburg, and returns from thence on every Thursday: performing the same routine daily as in the hour from Philadelphia. mwf

From the Otsego Herald.

CAUTION.

WHEREAS a combination of men in this county have undertaken to enrich themselves, by fabricating titles to sundry valuable tracts of land, the property of gentlemen living in New York, Philadelphia, London and Paris, for which tracts of land large sums of money have been paid to those fraudulent men, by innocent purchasers: It is therefore just that public information should be given, to the end, that the injured may seek redress, while the men have property, and are to be found. Those who have been discovered are Truman Harrison, Joseph Witcomb, said now to reside in the county of Saratoga; Thomas Kelly and several others who go under fictitious names. It is supposed that the lands offered for sale on those fabricated titles, are at least worth fifty thousand dollars. Such as we have actual knowledge of are as follows: Lots No. 11 and 12, Otsego patent, thousand acres each, the actual property of William Dellwyn, now of London; lots No. 58 and 64, same patent, thousand acres each, the property of Mr. Chaumont, now of Paris, and James Averill and others, of this State. There is some grounds to suppose that the lands of Richard Wells and Charles Wharton, of Philadelphia, are under their management.—The Printers will do well to give this a place in their papers, as well to caution the public against purchasing those lands, as also to deprive those men in future from imposing on individuals, which their education and address have enabled them to do heretofore. Witcomb has been a shopkeeper of some note in this country.

The following affidavits will set in a clear point of view the wickedness of those men, which when the public have perused, will induce them to excuse the interference of WM. COOPER.

Otsego, July 28th, 1797.

I Thomas Kelly, of the County of Otsego, having been led into an error, by John Witcomb and Truman Harrison, of the same County, to sign a deed to them, for lot No. 58, Otsego patent, which was the property of William T. Franklin now Mr. Chamont's and others; and further the said Joseph and Truman did persuade me to do this against my inclination, which was made out on the 10th day of November, 1793, or set back two years so as to bring it to that time; and further the name of Pardon Starks to that deed was a fictitious name, there being no such person there. To this I make voluntary oath. THOMAS KELLY.

19th July, 1797.

On the 19th July, 1797, came personally before me, Thomas Kelly, the subscriber to the above affidavit, and made solemn oath that it contains nothing but the truth.

ELIHU PHINNEY, Justice of the Peace.

On the 18th July, 1797, came before me Jacob Kibby, a person by me well known and worthy of good credit, who on his solemn oath did say, that two of the parties abovementioned, did make application to him this deponent, some time in the winter of 1796, to make them a deed for two thousand acres of land in the Otego patent, and promised this deponent a share of the profits, on the sale of said lands, for his so doing; and that they made application several times for the same purpose, which services this deponent as often refused, declaring to them that he had no right to lands, and could do no such thing; which daring attempt on this deponent's integrity he had related among his friends several times, previous to making this affidavit. JACOB KIBBEY.

Sworn before me,
ELIHU PHINNEY, Justice of the Peace.

"The History of the United States for the year 1796,"
In which the CHARGE OF SPECULATION against
ALEXANDER HAMILTON,
Late SECRETARY of the TREASURY, is FULLY REFUTED.

WRITTEN BY HIMSELF.

This publication presents a concise statement of the base means practised by the Jacobins of the United States to asperse the characters of those persons who are considered as hostile to their disorganizing schemes. It also contains the correspondence between Mr. Hamilton and Messrs. Monroe, Muhlenburgh and Venable, on the subject of the documents aforesaid, and a series of letters from James Reynolds and his wife to Mr. Hamilton, proving beyond the possibility of a doubt, that the connection between him and Reynolds, was the result of a daring conspiracy on the part of the latter and his associates to extort money.

Higgins' Specific

PREVENTION AND CURE OF THE YELLOW FEVER.

EVER since this disease made such ravages in this city and New-York, the author has turned his attention to its causes and cure.—The result of his enquiries has convinced him that the reason why so few persons recover from its attacks, are from its not being well understood, and the consequent wrong method taken to cure it. He is persuaded that the excessive bleedings and mercurial treatment of the Faculty is highly injurious, and that the only rational mode of treatment is by the use of proper acids. Convinced of this he offers his Specific as a certain remedy, if used according to the directions.
